Update from Adani just now – the landholders, Adani and both sets of lawyers have been in continuous discussion for the past three days. Discussions are ongoing today.

Updated bullet point is therefore:

- With the private landowner of the Lignum property (discussions with the landholders and legal representatives are ongoing. If agreement is achieved Adani, has until 4:30pm today to provide evidence to DNRM).

Paul

Ill copy James in as DNRM is responsible for the ML and this aspect of it

Adani has until 15 March to finalise compensation agreements for the impacts of the mine.

If this date is achieved, consideration of the mining leases can commence by DNRM to inform a decision by the Minister.

If this date is not achieved, the matter will return to the Land Court for a decision on compensation

The two compensation agreements required are:

- With Isaac Regional Council (obtained)
- With the private landowner of the Lignum property (unsure if they have provided this, it has to be provided to DNRM, Adani claimed they had it in hand).

Can you give me a clear and succinct summary of where we stand on the Carmichael approvals that were required by today.

Thanks

Again, a DNRM lead, but see below:

From a legal and statutory perspective, the remaining ILUA in question is not related to the ML decision

The National Native Title Tribunal has already decided (in April 2015) that the MLs can be granted. This decision is the subject of the current JR by Adrian Burragubba. A decision on the MLs would suppress not extinguish Native Title

Irrelevant
